Vic-

Yes, that is correct. I always take 2 days off the original due date so I can finalize the request and get signatures; but we've been tagged for an awareness notification so I have to back off two more days for the National FOIA Office and 12 mostly important people at HQ to get their three full business days to review the documents that we're releasing. And that leaves me only one day to finalize the request before closing it. I lose time, too.

Edie
